Hi Matthew,

Please see the ring around this tree well. Choking it. Same issue across the street. Can this be removed so the tree doesn't fall over?

Hi Dan,

Thanks for forwarding this over. I will send this over to my landscape contractor to see what we can do about this.

Hi Dan,

I heard back from my landscape contractor who removed the tree grates a few weeks back. Because the trees have grown deeply around the grates, they opted to not remove the rings in fear of possibly killing the trees. Removing the rings would require cutting into the trunk, which could lead to disease, exposure to infection and wood rot.

Either way, the prognosis for the trees might not be great... though our chances are better leaving the trees as they are. The bark will simply continue to grow around the ring, which is better than an open wound from cutting the trees in order to remove them (they won't fall over).

Wish I had a resolution for this one. I'll keep an eye on the trees and monitor how they're doing.

Best,
